

PLAN GREAT WORK FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Glowing Reports Presented at Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A.

NOW HAS 1,500 MEMBERS

Institute Will Be Held Next Month—Directors Are Elected for Year.

Plans were formulated last night at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, held in the home, 708 East Franklin Street, to further advance the work of this institution during the coming year. Reports of officers and chairmen of committees showed the association to be in a flourishing condition and excellent financial shape, and in view of the fact it is expected to greatly enlarge the scope of the work in a short while. Several of the speakers said that the coming year's work will be made within the next two weeks.

About 150 members were present last night, and the meeting was looked upon as one of the most successful in the history of the association. Following the transaction of business, the young women of the home gave a reception.

Fifteen Hundred Members. In her annual message, Miss Caroline S. Holladay, the president, reviewed the work of the past twelve months. She referred especially to the establishment of the Young Women's Christian Association gymnasium, which is under the direction of Miss Irene Headley Armes.

Miss Sadie Haley, membership secretary, reported that the membership of the association is now 1,500.

One of the most interesting committee reports was that of Mrs. C. H. Urner, who is in charge of the feature of the work embracing the care of young women traveling alone. She said that this has progressed so rapidly that it has become necessary to secure the Miss Elizabeth Baldwin, acting secretary, made the announcement of the appointment of Mrs. W. M. Strother as extension secretary and that she will assume the duties of this office February 1.

Miss Constance McCorkle, general secretary, in her report made an appeal to workers and members to study conditions which surround young women and girls in Richmond, that they may become more familiar with this phase of life.

Miss McCorkle declared that while the Young Women's Christian Association is in an experimental stage, the local branch was no longer an experiment, but a decided success in every way.

The devotional exercises of the meeting were conducted by Rev. H. D. MacLachlan, pastor of the Seventh Street Christian Church.

National Board Institute. Included among the various reports were those of Mrs. Charles O. Saville, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. New, chairman of the house committee; Mrs. Garland Pollard, chairman of the missionary committee; Mrs. S. H. Hawes and Mrs. S. M. Bishop, educational committee.

On account of illness, Mrs. W. M. Wade, chairman of the lunch committee, was unable to be present.

Resolutions deploring the resignation of Mrs. S. M. Sarvey, house secretary, who was forced to retire on account of ill health, were adopted.

The announcement that the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association will hold an institute in Richmond on February 20 and 21 aroused considerable enthusiasm, and it was expected that the various conferences which will be held at that time will greatly aid in the work here.

The officers of the local association will be elected at a meeting of the board of directors, the members of which were chosen last night, to be held the second Tuesday in February.

The new directors are as follows: Miss Caroline G. Holladay, Mrs. D. Eugene Bingham, Miss Elizabeth Baldwin, Mrs. H. W. Bassett, Mrs. Cornelia Bigelow, Mrs. S. M. Bishop, Mrs. A. MONCURE'S SHURTS ARE NOT GRAVE

He Will Recover Despite Brutal Beating Received at Rockville.

Washington, January 26.—Although badly beaten by several men as he was leaving the Rockville courthouse yesterday, and bearing other marks of their violence besides a broken nose, R. C. L. Moncure, a prominent attorney and member of the Moncure family of Virginia, is not, as was at first feared, in a dangerous condition, and there is hope that his left eye, which was kicked, is not permanently injured.

Dr. H. Clifton King, of 1422 K Street northwest, to whose house Mr. Moncure was taken by his brother Frank after the assault, said he had heard by phone to-day from Dr. W. T. Moncure, of Fairfax, Va., Mr. Moncure's father, who is in attendance upon his son, that the latter's condition is fairly good, and he expected that later in the day Mr. Moncure would be able to come to this city for a further examination of his eye.

Dr. King said there was a very bad blood bruise on the cheek bone near the left eye, but he had found a reasonable amount of vision in the eye, and he was hopeful that careful treatment would bring it around all right. Mr. Moncure's face bears marks and abrasions as the results of the kicks he had received. His body, near the ribs, was badly bruised, and his knee injured, said Dr. King, but a superficial examination failed to show any broken bones, except in the nose. Mr. Moncure, he said, told him he was set upon by five men, three of whom he knew, while on his way from the courthouse to the hotel to get his valise, and he was badly kicked after being knocked down.

Attacked in Front of Court.

The assault occurred in front of the courthouse. Sheriff Vlett, of Montgomery county, placed Peyton Whalen, his chief deputy, Joseph Whalen, the latter's brother, and Joshua T. Offutt under arrest on charges of assault. They were taken at the time before Justice Reading, of Rockville, whose mother was then dying, and has since died, and he, knowing the parties and not realizing the seriousness of the assault, it is said, released them on their personal recognizances.

The assault, it is alleged, grew out of developments during the day in the Rockville Circuit Court, during a hearing in the suit to break the will of Franklin I. Offutt. Mr. Moncure being one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, Mr. Moncure is said to have asked Joseph Whalen during the hearing if, during the day, he had not made a certain statement.

Version of Mr. Spates.

W. Outerbridge Spates, who saw the assault, said to-day, it is reported, that there was no conversation preceding the assault; that Mr. Moncure stumbled and fell, and as he arose was struck and knocked down again, when the men pounced upon him. He was not clear as to who struck the first blow.

Sheriff Vlett, who said he would take no action until after he had consulted with the State's attorney, who was away from Rockville to-day. The assault, it is claimed, was not in contempt of court, because under a legislative act of 1905 it was committed outside the court's jurisdiction and did not interfere with the administration of justice.

Mr. Moncure, after the assault, was taken to a drug store and Drs. F. N. Henderson and George E. Cook, of Rockville, attended to him. Later he took a car for Washington to his brother Frank and went in a cab to the office of Dr. King. At 9:30 o'clock last night he was able to leave for his home.

Dr. King said to-day that Mr. Moncure's eyes had been injured some time ago by an explosion, and that he had been treating them. After the assault much concern was felt lest the left eye had been permanently destroyed. It was for this reason that Mr. Moncure was hurried to Dr. King's office on his arrival in the city.

DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION FAILED—THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY PROVES ITS MERIT.

It gives me great pleasure to say a good word for Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because it has cured me of a severe case of Kidney Trouble. I had suffered for some five years with this trouble, and more especially for the first three months of 1909.

Physicians prescribed for me, but without much success, and any relief obtained was only temporary. I had severe pains in my back, and at no time was I free of pain. When I stooped down it was with some difficulty that I could straighten my body again. I could not lift any weight of consequence without great pain. I would be compelled to arise and give the bladder relief. A friend of mine advised me to take Swamp-Root, whereupon I wrote to Dr. Kilmer for a sample bottle, which so benefited me that I was led to believe it would be a great help to me. Accordingly I purchased two bottles of Swamp-Root from Mr. A. P. Perry, my druggist, and the effect has been truly marvelous.

I feel like a new man, and have every reason to believe that I am cured, and that no other medicine could have accomplished so much. Now I can raise a heavy load, and feel none the worse for it. In view of the foregoing facts I sincerely trust that this testimonial may reach some of those who are suffering after the manner described, and that it may convince them that the merit of this great medicine should be given a fair trial in their case.

Very truly yours,

statement. Whalen denied it, whereupon a witness was put upon the stand, who, it is said, testified he had made the statement. This alleged statement, it is said, led to the assault.

Warren M. Mitchell, of the firm of Mitchell & Weaver, stenographers, who was with Mr. Moncure when he was attacked, said there was no other provocation for the assault. He and Mr. Moncure were on their way to the hotel, when the Whalen brothers, it is alleged, rushed up to them and the assault began.

Joseph Whalen is said to have struck Mr. Moncure in the face, and when Mitchell sought to intervene he was pushed aside by several other men. In the meantime, it is said Mr. Moncure was knocked down by Deputy Sheriff Whalen, and the latter and others began kicking the prostrate man. It was not until the Whalen brothers, who were in the assault, and it was claimed that he was simply an onlooker and assisted the injured man to his feet and to a drug store after the assault.

FEATURES VIEWED FOR THE LAST TIME

Body of Mrs. Eddy Laid Away in Grave by Lake Halcyon.

Cambridge, Mass., January 26.—In a concrete grave on the shores of Lake Halcyon, in Mount Auburn Cemetery, there was laid to-day a bronze casket containing the body of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science denomination. On the casket rested a bronze box enclosing a complete set of the works of Mrs. Eddy, together with all recent Christian Science publications, while the silver plate beneath gave her name and the date of her birth and death. The ceremony was attended by the directors of the church and a score of its strongest supporters. Judge Clifford P. Smith, first reader of the Mother Church, repeated the Ninety-first Psalm and the last two verses in Jude, which were read at the funeral on December 8. Then the grave was sealed. Later the spot was marked by a mausoleum. General Henry H. Baker, Mrs. Eddy's cousin and executor of her will, was the only member of the family in attendance, but it was announced that all claims to other burial places had been waived.

So the church buried its leader. Since the funeral service of Mrs. Eddy on December 8, the bronze coffin had rested in the receiving tomb at Mount Auburn, with a guard beside it day and night. That guard was relieved shortly after noon to-day, and an hour later the coffin was drawn out and placed on a bier. The bronze plate covering the features of Mrs. Eddy was pushed back, and one by one the little company gazed for the last time on her placid face. The features had changed little in the seven weeks. There was a slight darkening here and there, but the features were still lacking. In the construction of the grave the skill of the engineers was invoked to make it impervious to desecration, or even to decay, for some centuries at least.

BOY'S REMAINS FOUND.

Youth Disappeared From Home Here

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bluefield, W. Va., January 26.—The remains of Thos. Hedrick, a seventeen-year-old boy who disappeared from his home in Princeton about a year ago, were found this afternoon three miles from Princeton, according to the advice from Princeton, had some trouble with his father, who disappeared from his home. He was never heard of again. The remains discovered were positively identified as those of Hedrick. There were found with the remains a watch, pocketknife, some papers and 27 cents in money. There was no evidence of a fight, and no explanation is that the boy committed suicide.

THREE DAYS' TRUCE IN ALBANY BATTLE

Legislators Could See No Chance of Breaking Senatorial Deadlock This Week.

Albany, N. Y., January 26.—Another three-day truce was declared to-night in the battle to elect a United States Senator. Leaders of both houses of the Legislature said there would be no quorum of the joint assembly to-morrow. William F. Sheehan, whose strength on the eighth of to-day showed no apparent diminution, intends to go home to-morrow, and Charles F. Murphy and the other Tammany Hall leaders will spend the week-end in New York.

The general feeling that there was no chance of breaking the deadlock this week, day was an example of the growing readiness of members to discuss their alleged grievances openly. Expressions of discontent like these have not been heard for a long time and encouraged those who hope for a "new deal" to begin it by offering.

The tension broke to-day in bitter charges, four charges on the floor of the Legislature. The trouble started in the Senate when Senator Roosevelt, leader of the "Influence," stood firm against William F. Sheehan, began it by offering a resolution directing the clerk to appoint Morgan Hoyt, a Republican, to the committee of which Franklin D. Roosevelt is chairman. He had declared that this appointment was taken from him because he refused to come into line with the caucus.

Senator Brackett declared that this was "another flagrant and brutal" instance of trying to bring undue influences to bear on the election of a United States Senator. "The Senate cannot afford to ignore so serious a breach of its privileges," he said, and served notice that at an early date he would demand an investigation of what he called Mr. McCabe's arbitrary and outrageous action.

"I myself would like the privilege of confronting him," Senator Brackett added. "It is a matter of common knowledge that committee patronage and pay have been winked at in the purchase of influence in the United States Senate."

Majority Leader Wagner shouted angrily: "I ask the Senator if he knows that his statement is an untruth and that he is trying to bring undue influences to bear on the election of a United States Senator?" Senator Brackett replied, and repeated his charge that the Tammany business was being obstructed for political purposes.

Senator Wagner replied with an impassioned attack on Senator Roosevelt. He insisted that the clerk had acted strictly within his rights.

Senator Roosevelt made a modest disclaimer.

A feature of the debate was a statement by Senator Saxton of New York, that he would "stand by Senator Roosevelt to the end of the United States senatorial question." (Both houses have been voting for Sheehan.) But he considered that the point of order raised by Senator Grady that the Senate had no power to interfere with the prerogative of its chief clerk in appointing clerical help was well within the point of order.

Senator Roosevelt had to yield.
